WORK-MOVEMENTS IN OTHER TRADES. The lockout in the prano trade, which appeared to be partly broken on Saturday, seems now established more firmly than ever. The men employed by Hames Brothers said yesterday morning that they had been taken back unconditionally; there fore other firms surrendered. Later, Haines Brothers said they had made their cur ployes accept the stringent agreement here tofore published. It was decided by all the manufacturers that unless the agreement had been accepted, the lockout should be enforced again this morning. Henry Herrmann's, cabinetmakers seem so determined not to go to work on their own terms, that their employer has offered $100 to the man who reaches the factory first this merning. Meetings of various trades were held last COMBINATION. There was every appearance for several bours yesterday that the lockout of the pamomakers was hopelessly broken and that the manufacturers had begun a scramble to see which c uld get their factories into operation first, but before the day ended the lock out had apparently become as strongly established as ever. Shortly after noon inquiry of the Executive Committee of the mea at the Tentonia Assembly Room was met by the positive statement that the men of Haines Bros., Ernest Gabler, H. Behning, C. D. Pease & Co. and J. & C. Fisher were at work, having been taken back without conditions; and that Kranich & Bach had promised to open their factory this morning, without requiring the men to accept any agreement.

As explained by the committee, the events of the day had simply been a succession of victories for the men. The employée of Haines Bros., it was said, met early in the morning and sent a committee of five to the firm. This committee, after a consultation with the Messrs. Haines, reported that "they (Haines Bros.) open their factory at once, and the men return unconditionally." Thereupon the men went to the factory and resumed work. Some hours later a report was brought the executive committee that N. J. Hames had stated that his men had given their unquantied assent to the agreement already published, and that, for this reason, he had permitted them to work. A sub-committee was sent to me factory to investigate the facts Robert H. Bartholomey, chairman of this committee, reported that a long, and at times exciting, debate took place with N. J. Haines, who finally said that the men went back to work without any questioning, and without signing any agreement. When the men saw committee arrive, they thought something work. After the conference the men were told to go to work again, and did so, being perfectly authorized by the Union. Mr. Bartholomey took occasion, in making his report, to beg all spealers at various meetings of the men not to use violent language, whether against manufacturers or mechanics. Said he: "We are backed up all over the Union, and violent talk will lose us public sympathy, without doing us any good."

J. & C. Fisher sent a written communication to their men to this effect: "Our employes can return to work unconditionally this day." The men, it was stated, received this note with a round of hearty cheers, and went to the factory. The committee which was sent to se Henry Behning reported in writing that "Mr Behning requested his men to return to work unconditionally this day," and accordingly the men of one factory more went back to their tools. Ernest Gabler, it was stated, had informed his men that they would be received on the terms accepted by the employés of Haines Brothers. The men decided to go to the factory this morn ing and to have a jollification yesterday afternoon. The overture, however, that afforded the planomakers the greatest pleasure came from C. D. Pease & Co., who wrote as follows to their men: "J. & C. Fischer have wrote as follows to their men: "J. & C. Fischer have called on me this morning stating that they have offered their men to all return to work in a body; and they being my strongest competition, I hereby wish to say that I surrender in the same manner. I don't like to be left by workmen or bosses, and whether you wish to stick to agitating societies or not, I here say that I will not belong to any; and for your own good I enjoin, you to drop such damaging business. When I cannot hire you to work for me and enable myself to make a fair profit in the production, I will lockout alone. Therefore, if you all wish to return to work at once as you left, you can do so, and charge to me the beer for all hands to-day. I am working alone hereafter."

The Pease men, of course, were willing to accept an unconditional surrender, and decided to go to work.

The MANUFACTURERS AGAIN COMBINE.

In this shattered condition the lockout appeared to b until after a special meeting of the Manufacturers' So ciety, which was held at the Union Square Hotel in the afternoon. All the members were tresent except Henry Behning, who had not been informed of the meeting, and C. D. Pease & Co., who were surrendering, as a manufacturer sareastically remarked. Haines Brothers were called upon for an explanation of Haines Brothers were cancer upon to an expansion of their action, and N. J. Haines, s.t., stated positively and without qualification, that b fore he opened the doors of his factory to his employes, he resat to them, more than once, the agreement drawn up on Saturday, and that they accepted it without any reservation whatever. Furthermore, he could bring from witnesses to swear to this statement, He declared that before he would surrender to the men the factory might go to pieces.

swear to this statement. He declared that before he would surrender to the men the factory might go to pieces.

Messrs. Gabler and Fisher made statements to the effect that they had been misinformed. Understanding, said they, that Haines Brothers had taken their men back without conditions, they had decided to do the same. Since they had become better informed, they would close their factories until a general understanding could be reached. Resolutions were unanimously adopted to the effect that the closing of the factories was not agreed upon and enforced for the purpose of compelling the men to accept less than fair and remunerative wages for their labor, but simply to establish and emphasize the right of each employer to maintain abs once control over the management of his business; and that, in order to remove the misappfellension that may exist in the minds of norm, and to convince the workmen that the contest is for principles only, each member of the society is at liberty to employ what workmen he pleases, provided the latter agree not to afternot a stall not employ, show they shall or shall not employ, whom they shall or shall not employ, and the shall or shall not employ, and the shall on the same and a committee was appoint as foremen, or what apprentices the sen the shall or shall not employ, and they shall or shall not employ and the soute of the second of the society is at the second of the society is an interest the men shall provide the shall or shall Hames said to me, and I put his words down on paper, that the men went to work without any question being put to them or without their signing any paper. He said to us, 'I despise you as a committee, but as men I am ready to shake hands with you. I do not recognize your Union, and I'll never again recognize that of the manufacturers.' The committee are ready to swear to this statement."

Many men from various factories were present during this conversation with Mr. Bartholomew, and they should be chorus that they would never return to work under any conditions, but that they must be taken back just as they were turned into the streets. The Executive Committee received yeareday $250 from the Bailinger pianomakers, $40 from the Western Electric Manufacturing Company's employés and smaller sums from other sources. One man sent word that he would either give $20 cash or treat the men on Easter Monday to 100 gallons of clamehowder and as much beer as 1,000 men could drank. The Varnishers' Union has voted $25 and an expression of sympathy to the planomakers. Branches of Nos. 7 and 8 of the Socialistic Labor party and the Woman's Branch No. 14 of the same party held meetings last evening, and resolved to assist the lockout men with all their sparse means. The Amalgamuted Labor Union, which claims to represent twenty different trades and 16,000 workmen, has decided to hold a mass-meeting at Cooper Union in the latter part of the week to condemn the lockout, and the Union has well as a sum of the same purpose.

The employes of Steinway & Sons met hast evening at Turtie Bay Hall to receive their weekly allowance from the funds of the Union. trade in this city. James Farlong, president of the Union, made a long address defining the objects of the association, and urging those present who were not already members, to join it. Then the Executive Committee went into secret session. The president informed a TRIBUNE reporter that the painters were not in condition to strike just at present, even if a strike were necessary, though organiza-tion was being rapidly affected. An "International Painters Meeting," it was announced, would be held at the Germania Assembly Rooms, No. 291 Bowery, to-morrow evening. The Stone-rubbers Protective Union met last night to discuss the coming strike for higher wages. The society consists of over 200 men, distributed through al-the stone-yards in the city. They now earn $1.75 the stone-yards in the city. They now earn $1.75 a day, working nine hours. A demand will be made April 1, for twenty-fine cents a day in addition. Tomorrow "shep siewards" will be elected in all the yards for the purpose of acquainting the proprietors with their decision. Mr. Crowfield, the president of the mion, said the men had manificantly decided on this course.

The shipjoiners, who met last week to re-form their association, effected an organization last evening in Military Hall. No. 193 Bowery, and received over fity members. They have already demanded that their wages shall be advanced to $3 a day, on and after April 1. This is the sum they were receiving hefore the reduction of 50 cents a day last Sumser. The iterassionnders and Brassworkers' Profective Association held a meeting last eventus in Military Hall, No. 193 Bowery, to perfect the organization began last week. The trade numbers about 1,000 men in this city, and the wages received are from $2.25 to $3 a day. The edgest of the association is to obtain a uniform advance of $3. No active steps will be taken to that end until the organization is stronger than at present.

A meeting of the Bluestone Cutters, and Fraggers Association look place last evening at Emmet Hall, in West Thrifethest, with A. McLaughlin in the ensit. The strike in contemplation by the society is for an advance of wages from $2.50 to $3 a week, beginning April 1, and the means for securing this advance formed the prractical object of the meeting. There are at present about 150 members enrolled, and this, it was frared, was too small a number to effect the desired result. One member urged a strike against non-society men, but this was overraided by the president, on the ground that in their present weak constituent society men would be discharged by their employers, and their places snaphed by outside workers. After some discussion it was resolved that representatives of the yards present should report at the next meeting the number and uniting them for common action.

The machine was taken to the building at the time of the Liederkranz ball, February I, and has been standing there since for the purpose of being completed. It was a six-magnet machine and of about twice the usual size, being three and a half feet high and about three teet long; it weighted nearly 1,700 pounds, and, when running, took from eight to ten horse-power. It could be so connected as to throw a light equal to 120,000 candies.

The machine cost about $5,000 and could not be replaced for less than $5,000. With reference to its being used to light the dome of the Capitol, Mr. Arnoux informed a Finture reporter yesterday that the firm had been given to understand that the machine would be purchased by the Government as soon as an appropriation could be obtained. The firm had built the machine, therefore, with this expectation.

A YEAR WITHOUT SLEEP.

Hotel without delay.

New-Market, N. H., has attracted much attention. For earry a year she had lived without sleep, by reason of pain revitable. Preliminary to this, WEI DE MEYER's CATARITH CURE was tried upon her. This was on Friday On the following Monelay, a polypus an latch and a haif long, with a string on it, where it fore from the eye, was discharged from the nose through the mouth, followed by haif a cupful of nost disgusting mucous. The remety was continued until she began to breathe, sair and seep naturally; he refer was awed, and she was entirely restored. Her letter concludes: "Everybody ought to know of WEI DE MEYER'S wonderful CATARRH CURE." Not less remarkable is the case of Chas. S. Staubope, of 21 Johnsts, Newport, R. L., who writes to Caswell, Massey & Co., druggists: "When I commenced the use of WEI DE MEYER'S CATARRH CURE I was DOOD DEAFTON HEAD THE CHERCH BELL'S HIND. MEI DE MEYER'S compound cured a manber of my family of chrome Catarrh. I CANNOT SPEAR TOO HIGHLY of it." Mr. L. F. Newman, merchant, 305 Eulton-st., Brooklyn, was a terrible victim from chrome Catarrh. He says: "My rachling in the head, tickling in the threat, annilles and spurts of putrid mucous upon the tonsils or from the nostrib ARE SIGNS OF CATARRIL. The statements of many per
